U.N. Forces in Bitter Retreat From Pyongyang

INDIA PUSHES FOR PEACEFUL SETTLEMENT

BULLETIN
New York, Dec. 4—(AP)—The United States and five other countries today formally asked the United Nations Assembly to take up as an urgent matter the Chinese Communist intervention in Korea. The request was made in a telegram to U. N. Secretary-General Trygve Lie. Diplomatic quarters said it might be taken up by the Assembly's 14-nation steering committee either today or tomorrow. The telegram was signed by the chief delegates of the United States, Britain, France, Norway, Cuba, and Ecuador.

New York, Dec. 4—(AP)—Faced with a constantly deteriorating military situation in Korea, United Nations diplomats waited anxiously today to learn the result of a secret conference between India's Sir Benegal N. Rau and Communist China's Wu Hsiu-Chuan.

The two met for several hours last night in what Sir Benegal said was an attempt to find a peaceful solution to the crisis caused by Red Chinese intervention in Korea.

The conference between the two Asian diplomats came as the United States alerted the U. N. General Assembly to be ready for action on the Chinese problem. American government officials held a series of top level conferences here and in Washington.

Rau maintained a discreet silence on the "locked-door talks" because, he said, "negotiations have entered an extremely difficult stage."

It is highly unlikely that the nature of the discussions will be made public until:

1. Wu and Rau have communicated with their respective governments and given them a chance to ponder the views expressed.

2. President Truman and British Prime Minister Attlee, meeting in Washington tomorrow, have had a chance to study the results—if any—and decide on a common policy.

It was Rau's second meeting in three days with Wu. Cautionary optimism developed here that some fruitful suggestion could result and might lead to a diplomatic solution of the Korean problem.

Diplomats were especially cheered by the fact that, following the first conference, Wu evidently received approval from Peiping to go ahead with negotiations.

There was no indication what line the talks were taking, but there was considerable speculation that a military cease-fire might be arranged which would give time for a political settlement.

The American alert to the general assembly was issued by U. S. Delegate Warren R. Austin after an all-Sunday conference with Republican Adviser John Foster Dulles and other top aides.

Attlee Arrives for Talks With Truman

British Prime Minister Here To Discuss Plans To Avert Threat of a Global Conflict

BULLETIN
Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee will start their top-level conferences on the grave world situation at 4 p. m. today. The White House announced that the visiting British government head and a staff of advisers will meet with President Truman and his U. S. military and diplomatic aides in the big cabinet room at the White House. Presidential Secretary Charles G. Ross, who made the announcement, said he did not know whether a formal agenda had been prepared.

Red Organizer in Pittsburgh Is One Of Five Indicted

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—Three scientists who worked on the atomic bomb and two men identified as veteran Communist organizers were indicted today for contempt of congress.

The indictments returned by a federal grand jury: Steve Nelson, 47, Communist party organizer for western Pennsylvania who allegedly set up a Red cell in the wartime University of California radiation laboratory.

Marcel Scherer, 51, like Nelson linked by the House un-American Activities Committee with Red infiltration of the radiation laboratory.

David Joseph Bohm, 33, Giovanni Rossi Lomanitz, 29, and Irving David Fox, 30, scientists who worked in the radiation laboratory in connection with development of the atomic bomb.

All five indictments were based on refusal to answer questions by the house un-American Activities Committee.

All five were asked—and refused to say—whether they were or ever had been members of the Communist party. The indictment against Nelson, however, was the only one to make this basis of a criminal charge.

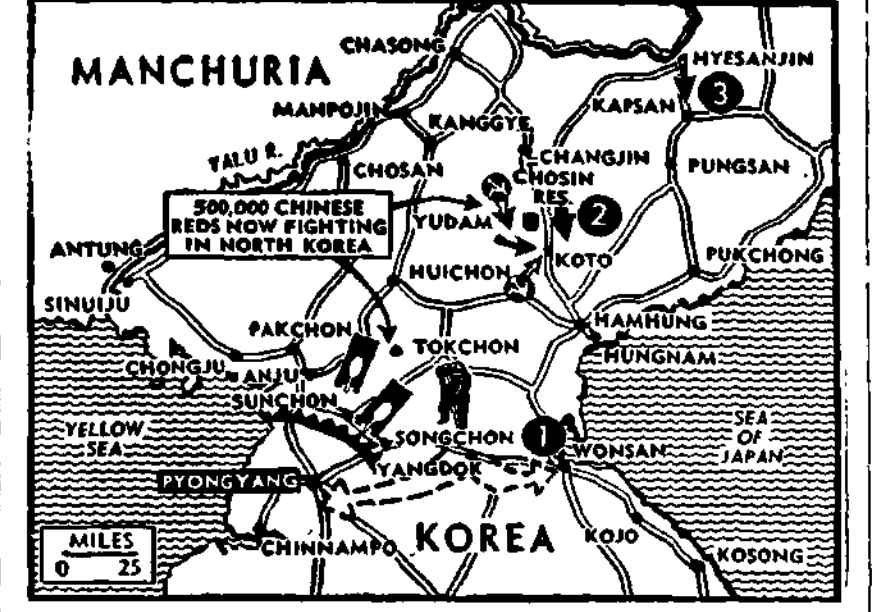

William Hitz, assistant U. S. District Attorney said Nelson's refusal to answer the Communist question was included in the indictment against him because he volunteered that he had been a long-time Communist, yet refused to answer when he was asked.

The five were named by a federal grand jury sitting before District Judge Edward A. Tamm.

The maximum penalty for contempt of congress upon conviction is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine on each count.

Except for Scherer, who appeared before the Un-American Activities Committee in June, all those indicted today brought to 24 the number of persons indicted in recent weeks for refusal to answer questions of various congressional investigating committees.

Hitz told reporters that warrants have been issued for the arrest of the five accused today.

"DUNKERQUE" THREAT LOOMS—U. S. Eighth Army units began pulling out of Pyongyang as elements of 16 Chinese divisions pouring south (tank symbols) hammered at right flank of new Allied defense line (jagged symbol). Other Chinese troops (soldier symbol) captured Yangdok and threatened (broken arrows) to swing to drive on east coast port of Wonsan (1) and/or cut around behind Pyongyang. Push around Wonsan would cut off over 50,000 Allied troops in northeast Korea. Some 20,000 of them already were encircled by enemy around Chosin Reservoir (2). Army troops along frontier at Hyesanjin (3) reportedly were beginning to pull back.

Temperature Drop Brings End to Flood Threats With Snow Reported On the Way

Floods and threats of floods hit many western Pennsylvania cities and towns today. The central section of the state was warned to expect from five to ten inches of snow.

The weather bureau said an intense storm, sweeping north through Virginia, is likely to drop a heavy burden of snow on mid-Pennsylvania and New York.

From three to five inches of snow was predicted for western Pennsylvania but the Pittsburgh weather bureau said that city will escape with snow flurries.

Allegheny River Rise Checked By Cold at 12.8 Feet

For the second weekend in a row, the Weatherman threatened the area with a flood, and then relented at the last minute and turned the temperature down to check rapidly rising streams.

A week ago, an all day rain and mild temperatures following two days of snow sent stream levels climbing rapidly with the Allegheny River gauge at the Hickory street bridge reaching 13 feet 7 inches before bitter cold temperatures checked the rise.

Over the past weekend, the situation was similar. Rain and mild temperatures melted away much of the heavy snow burden, and again sent the streams climbing up perilously close to the top of their banks.

The Allegheny river at Warren stood at 7 feet 8 inches Saturday morning. By Sunday morning, the gauge read: 8 feet 7 inches, and in the next 12 hours, the stream level had mounted to the 11 foot mark.

Overnight, the river kept rising slowly until by 8 o'clock the level read 12 feet 8 inches, where it remained stationary over a five-hour period.

According to reports from the weather bureau in Pittsburgh, stream level in the headwaters of the Allegheny above Warren is still rising, although the rate of the rise had decreased considerably. The level of Chautauque Lake also is high, causing a heavy runoff in Conewago creek.

All highways throughout the country are still open, it was reported in Warren borough, a heavy accumulation of surface water flooded Pennsylvania avenue, west, from Eddy street to Lacy street. Detour signs were erected to shut traffic around the flooded area.

M'Arthur Says 810,000 Reds In North Korea

Tokyo, Dec. 4—(AP)—General MacArthur said today more than 810,000 Red troops are massed in North Korea and the nearby borders of Manchuria.

He said another 200,000 Chinese Reds were moving north toward this manpower mass, making a commitment of one-fourth of the 4,000,000 men Red China has under arms.

The presence of these large Communist Chinese forces in Manchuria and North Korea was not the result of a sudden impulse," he said in his daily war summary.

The United Nations commander theorized there must have been "a long period of planning" followed by a considerable time necessary for troop movement.

Some of the Chinese "came from central China," he asserted.

"Preparations were made long ago," he said.

"Possibly the decision to commit them came after it was apparent that the military forces of the North Korean peoples republic had been decisively defeated."

MacArthur broke down the figures on the Reds this way:

194,000 Communist troops of China's fourth field army on the northwestern front. 74,000 on the northeastern front—a total of 268,000 in the front echelons.

Philadelphian To Be House Leader Of 1951 Legislature

Harrisburg, Dec. 4—(AP)—Rep. Charles C. Smith, of Philadelphia, was regarded today at the State Capitol as having the inside track as Republican house leader of the 1951 legislature—the only top spot open for the coming session.

The majority floor leadership in the house became vacant through the decision of former Rep. Charles H. Brunner, Jr., Montgomery county, to step out of the legislature. Brunner has been mentioned for the post of Secretary of Forests and Waters in Governor-Elect John S. Fine's cabinet.

Smith, who was Republican whip in the house in the 1949 session, is expected to step up to the post of floor leader when Republican representatives caucus here on Wednesday. Rep. Albert W. Johnson, McKean county, has been mentioned to succeed Smith as whip, or assistant floor leader.

Rep. Herbert P. Sorg, of Elk county, has no opposition for re-election as house speaker.

On the senate side, Sen. M. Harvey Taylor, Dauphin county, president pro tempore, and Sen. John W. Walker, Allegheny county, Republican floor leader, are slated for re-election.

Up to 150,000 Red Chinese Reported to Be In Striking Distance of Former Capital

BULLETIN
With U. S. Tenth Corps, Korea, Dec. 4—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Edward M. Almond said tonight marines and soldiers of his Tenth Corps "today climaxed a bitter five day battle to consolidate in the vicinity of the Changjin reservoir." Almond issued a summary saying: "Furious efforts by at least six CCF (Chinese Communist Forces) Divisions to prevent the assembly by setting up roadblocks and by frontal and flank attacks, as well as efforts to 'divide the force and conquer,' were overcome. 'By blocking counterattacks and coordinated fire and movement, the marines hurled back the enemy, inflicting heavy losses.' The Marines are elements of the First Marine Division, the soldiers members of the U. S. Seventh Army Infantry Division.

Tokyo, Dec. 5—(AP)—United Nations forces threw up a rearguard shield 10 miles north of Pyongyang today to protect their bitter retreat south through that former Red Korean capital.

Little fighting was reported in that northwest sector. But Lt. Gen. Walton H. Walker, U. S. Eighth Army Commander, said the Red Chinese had rolled five armies of 15 divisions—up to 150,000 men—south of the Chongchon river within striking distance of Pyongyang.

These were the shock troops of more than 1,000,000 Chinese that General MacArthur said were either in Korea or heading for the battlefronts from Manchuria and Central China.

In the bitterly cold northeast, reinforced Chinese mounted a critical and more immediate threat to the U. S. Marines and four other U. N. divisions.

The Reds were driving on the twin east coast industrial cities of Hamhung and Hungnam. They threatened to isolate the entire 10th Corps. Its five divisions are widely scattered over the rugged northeast Korea icebox.

Marines and Doughboys battled desperately to break out of deep Red traps in the Changjin reservoir area. A P. Correspondent Tom Stone reported Chinese pressure on them eased somewhat Monday, however.

The Chinese oddly released 27 wounded Americans in the reservoir sector. This brought to 84 Americans similarly released.

Allied fighters and bombers pounded incessantly at the Chinese and remnant Korean Red forces throughout North Korea.

So massive were the oncoming Chinese forces, however, that it appeared likely they could power through into South Korea if such a decision was made by the Red high command.

Far behind Allied forces on the east coast, a Chinese force was wheeling from the middle of the peninsula toward the supply port of Wonsan. This thrust threatened the Chinese supply line.

Administration's View On Wage And Price Cuts Sought

Washington, Dec. 4—(AP)—Congress called for the administration's views today on the possibility of wage-price curbs.

The matter was brooked for discussion before the senate banking committee as the senate itself made ready to open debate on a related home front issue—a temporary extension of the federal rent control law. Backers and foes of the rent bill predicted senate passage.

The bill would continue the federal program for 60 days, or through Feb. 28. Under the present law, controls expire at the end of the year.

New Governor Faces Problem of Raising $100,000,000 Without State Sales Tax

Harrisburg, Dec. 4—(AP)—How to raise $100,000,000 in new revenue for the 1951-52 biennium without imposing a general sales tax is the big question facing Governor-Elect John S. Fine this week on his return to Pennsylvania.

The governor-elect, winding up a two weeks "working" vacation in Florida, is expected in Harrisburg on Wednesday. He will go immediately into a series of conferences on politics and personalities of his administration in advance of his inauguration on January 16.

High on Fine's appointment list is a conference with Dr. Edward B. Logan, long-time budget secretary for Pennsylvania's governors, who has been re-appointed to that post by the incoming governor.

Dr. Logan, at the conference set for Wednesday, will brief his new boss on the state's financial situation. They also may be expected to explore the possibilities of raising the new revenue the Fine administration will need.

Sources close to Fine disclosed over the weekend in Florida a breakdown of new and enlarged government costs for the next biennium, starting June 1, 1951.

FATHER POLIO VICTIM

Meadville, Dec. 4—(AP)—A 30-year-old father of two young children died of polio in Meadville City Hospital yesterday. He was Roy V. Terwilliger of nearby Little Coulee.

First Lt. James Arthur Bradley of Dallas was killed when he flew the burning plane off the Hengsley field runway and over about 100 automobiles parked at the end of the strip. He crashed landed in a thinly populated area just beyond the field.

Lt. Col. B. M. Taylor, base commander, said he would recommend Bradley for the Congressional Medal of Honor because the lieutenant's action probably saved many lives.

INFANT LOSES LIFE IN ERIE CO. BLAZE

Erie, Dec. 4—(AP)—Four-months-old Edward Henry Meyers burned to death in a house fire a few hours after his GI father came home on a weekend pass from Camp Atterbury, Ind.

The infant and his mother, Mrs. Charles Meyers, were living at the home of Mrs. Meyers' parents, where the fire occurred. The frame house was gutted. Firemen blamed an overheated coal stove. All other occupants escaped the flames.

HUNTING FATALITY

Brookville, Dec. 4—(AP)—A Tarentum deer hunter died Monday, shot in the stomach by his own rifle while knocking apples from a tree.

The victim was Stanley J. Filous, 30. It is the first fatality of the deer season in this heart of the deer hunting country.

Filous' brother John said Stanley was knocking apples from a tree with the butt of his 30-30 Winchester when the gun discharged.

Many Landlords In District Receive Rent Increases

Northwestern Pennsylvania landlords totalling about 1,690 received rent increases during the three month period of September, October, and November. It has been announced by Frank S. Anderson, area rent director, at Erie. One thousand landlords of the 1,690 received increases as a result of filing the new and highly popular simplified petition form approved by the four Rent Advisory Boards of Northwestern Pennsylvania. Under this procedure landlords who have had no increase in rent since June 30, 1947, and are maintaining essential services required are enabled to secure a 15% increase in rent for increased costs of maintenance and taxes by filing 3 copies of a form requiring only four simple bits of information together with the landlord's signature.

Six hundred and twenty-one other landlords received increases for the same three month period through filing the regular petition forms by which landlords may petition for increases on the basis of major capital improvements, increased services, furniture, or equipment provided, increased occupancy above normal, or subletting, or inequitable rent below comparable rents on the freeze date, excessively increased costs beyond earlier allowance for such item, or lack of a fair net operating income.

Anderson stated, "The office registration files indicate that there are still a considerable number of landlords who have not received increases in rent over the original freeze date rents. Many landlords are still apparently unaware of the liberalization of the rent regulations with respect to adjustments in recent months."

Such landlords are invited to avail themselves of the services of Rent Consultant Albert J. Jackson who is in Room 12 of the Post Office Building in Warren every Thursday from 10:00 to 12:00 and from 2:00 to 3:00. He will be glad to give out necessary forms and information and to assist landlords in the preparation and completion of the necessary petition forms.

Is appealing his son's fine and intends to take the matter into court, it was understood.

After the Game Commission officials collected those fines, he also confiscated the deer, which were killed illegally.

Ohio Men Assessed Total of $700 For Illegal Deer Kills

Tionesta—Three extra doe were killed by one Ohio hunter near here Tuesday. When all the smoke had cleared away the man, his two brothers and two residents of this vicinity paid fines totalling $700.

One of the $100 fines was paid by a farmer who grappled with the district game protector.

Available information concerning the mass shooting was as follows:

The three Ohio brothers were staying at the farmer's home. They were out hunting during the doe season and one posted on a trail saw six deer come along in a line.

He began firing away—at the first, then the second, third and fourth. The fourth one went down. When the hunter reached the spot he said later he was amazed because the other three deer were lying there dead and he had thought he missed them.

The extra deer went to his brothers and one of the natives, and nothing was said concerning them.

However, another Ohio hunter had witnessed the slaughter and was disgusted about it. Information reached officials and an investigation was conducted.

When the arrests were made yesterday the farmer laid hands briefly upon the game protector, residents said. For that flareup he paid a $100 fine.

Other fines included:

A total of $500 by the man who did the shooting—$100 apiece for the three extra doe.

The other two brothers paid $100 each for assisting in concealing information about illegal kills.

The farmer's son and the farmer each paid $100, but the latter

Large Number In Attendance at Annual Lodge of Sorrow Held By Lodge of Elks

The auditorium of the club house, attractively decorated for the occasion, was the scene of an impressive service Sunday afternoon at three o'clock when Warren Lodge No. 223, B. F. O. Elks held the annual Lodge of Sorrow, with the officers of the organization in charge and a large crowd of members and friends in attendance.

The Memorial ritual was in charge of officers of the lodge with Exalted Ruler R. J. Weigle presiding, and the oration was delivered by Dr. Robert S. Steen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this city. Assisting the exalted ruler were the following: L. M. Whiteshot, leading knight; J. G. MacDonald, loyal knight; E. M. Branch, Jr., lecturing knight; R. L. Ruhlman, secretary; J. E. Goblinger, esquire; Frank J. Mason, chaplain; R. J. Schumacher, inner guard; Ronald B. Frederick, tiller; A. A. Albaugh, H. J. Harvey and P. C. Ostergard, trustees.

An organ overture with music arrangement in charge of Harry C. Christensen, preceded the following program: Ritual, exalted ruler, chaplain and esquire; "The Lost Chord," Warren Lodge quartet; memorial ritual, exalted ruler; roll call, R. L. Ruhlman, secretary; altar service, exalted ruler and officers; "Tell Me Why," quartet; address, Dr. Steen; closing ceremonies, exalted ruler and chaplain.

The quartet was composed of William C. Duff, Jr., Howard Johnson, Roger Hendrickson and Richard Hill.

Using as his theme "The Glorious Company," and taking his text from I Corinthians, 15-49—"As we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the Heavenly," Dr. Steen spoke in part as follows:

In the liturgical branches of the Christian family there is a special day observed during the month of November which is known as All Saints' Day. On this occasion the churches honor the memory of those who have gone before them in the Christian faith. This fraternity has assembled today for just such a purpose; to remember those who have been called home during the past year and to remember as well that beyond the world of sight and sound these are in God's care.

Here is a theme that is as old as humanity and is as new as the most recent separation. All are called at times to give up those whom they have loved. For those who remain there come moments of emptiness when the heart cries out for assistance. A poet has put on the lips of a dying man the words "Will they remember me when I am gone?" The answer, of course, is "Yes, we shall remember." As the necrological roll is called there will come to the mind of each of you some memory of the one who has departed.

Always, in the solemnity of such a holy hour, the human soul asks deep questions about life; life here, the possibility of life beyond. St. Paul in the 15th Chapter of I Corinthians gives us the Christian answer to all such seeking. It is a shout of triumph—"thanks be to God who giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ." Let us then, on this day of memory, remember not alone our departed friends but recall as well the great foundation of our hope in God.

First, let us remember that life is from God. We are created of Him and it is in Him that we live and move and have our being. Each begins life with the possibility of spiritual growth. "We are of the earth, earthy. . . . Howbeit that was not first which was spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual." Our life is hid with God in Christ. There should be in every maturing man and woman an increasing sense of the spiritual gifts, a closed fellowship with God. Out of this communion with God there comes the knowledge that we can trust Him; and such words as life and death take on new meanings. There is, for such believers, the conviction that death is swallowed up in victory.

Some years ago an American clergyman, thinking of the certainty of life beyond, used a rather singular illustration to clarify what we should think of death. He said that if we could imagine twins in the mother's womb: awaiting birth, trying to explain what such an event would mean for them, one might be fearful—saying that birth could only mean extinction for it would be a separation from the mother. The other urged that birth would present the possibility of continued growth; a whole new world of growing. At any rate this has been what Christians have felt, walking in the light of their faith, in the face of death. It is the opening of new vistas for a more intimate life with God.

So firmly confident were the early Christians in this faith that it wasn't until around the tenth century that death was thought of with fearfulness. The inscriptions on the tombs of early Christians abounded in hope: "in peace"; "live forever"; "he rests well"; Alexander is not dead but lives above the stars and his body rests in the tomb" are examples of such inscriptions. Let us remember, then, that life is of God and death is but an incident in the onward movement of the soul. We bear the image of the earthy, but that is not the whole story, insists Paul. We shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

Second, let us remember, too, that the Christian fellowship includes those who have departed life. The Church has always been mindful of its fellowship with these. Others have gone before us in the way. These are they who are described in the 12th chapter of the Epistle to the Hebrews as "so great a cloud of witnesses. They are the host who form "the church invisible." Those of our loved ones who have walked in love among their fellows and in whose hearts Christ was enthroned are in that blessed company. How beautifully this was expressed in the 3rd chapter of the Apocrypha book of Wisdom: "The souls of the righteous are in the hands of God, and there shall no torment touch them. In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die; and their departure is taken for misery, and their going from us to be utter destruction; but they are in peace. For though they be punished in the sight of men, yet is their hope full of immortality. And having been a little chastised they will be greatly rewarded: for God proved them, and found them worthy of Himself." How beautifully has the poet sung of this great host:

"O blest communion, fellowship divine! We feebly struggle, they in glory shine, Yet all are one in Thee for all are thine, Alleluia."

Third, Remembering those who have departed this earthly life, let us remember too, that we are called to live now in confidence in God and love for one another. "Thou shalt love the Lord, thy God, with all thy heart, soul, strength and mind. . . . and thy neighbor as thyself" is our Heavenly Father's great commandment for us. When this is done death is indeed swallowed up in victory. Someone once asked Baron Van Hugel, the noted Catholic mystic, why, toward the end of his life, he was beginning a new book. "You will never live to finish it," his friend said. To this, the devout soul replied: "If I do not finish it here, I'll live it over yonder."

This confidence, based on a daily walk with God, must find a place in our hearts in this day of Remembrance.

Middle District Producers to Meet Thursday Evening

Middle District Producers Association will hold their annual election of officers at the dinner meeting this Thursday evening, to be held at Haddon Heights Presbyterian church in Oil City. Those desiring to attend the dinner will have not already mailed their reservations, should contact the secretary, Wilbur H. Seifert, Telephone Oil City, 63901, or 58851, preferably not later than Tuesday in order to insure that proper accommodations may be made for the dinner which will be at 6:30 p. m.

The program chairman C. F. Kindred has arranged an interesting and entertaining program featuring new materials for the Oil industry. The speakers, N. J. Poux of Skyline Industries of Titusville, and C. C. Hogg, former head of the Petroleum Engineering course at Marietta College and now with the Brundred Oil Corporation, will illustrate their talks with slides and blackboard illustrations. Mr. Poux will speak on "Plastics for Oil-Field use," while Mr. Hogg's address will be on "What You Can Learn From a Grindstone."

As full attendance is requested as may be possible, inasmuch as the important matter of election of officers and directors to serve for the following year will take place at this meeting. The association is a non-profit organization devoted to the welfare of the oil industry, and the meetings are open to anyone interested in furthering this aim.

SLURS AT KEFAUVER PROBE

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, chairman of the roving Senate Crime Investigating Committee, is said to be in the doghouse with some of his Democratic colleagues. They feel his disclosures did serious harm to Democratic nominees in some states on Nov. 7.

They have in mind especially the case of Sen. Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, outgoing Senate majority leader. Lucas appears to have been definitely hurt by facts the Kefauver group helped unearth during their inquiry in Chicago.

A prospective committee witness was murdered. The Democratic choice for Cook County sheriff, Daniel Gilbert, gave the committee a feeble explanation of how he managed to amass $350,000 over the years on a $9000 salary as chief investigator for the state's attorney.

Gilbert proved a millstone around the necks of top Democratic candidates. Lucas barely sneaked home ahead of his Republican opponent in Cook county, where the polished Democratic machine could normally deliver him a margin in excess of 200,000 votes.

No other case was as pointed as this. But generally the committee's findings tended to reflect more on Democratic regimes than upon Republican. And some angry Democrats rate this fact as one of the really decisive elements in the country-wide outcome.

For the sake of their own standing as lawmakers, these men had better not make their names known publicly. For their attitude is quite indefensible. It amounts to saying that the Kefauver committee should have soft-pedaled its investigation wherever it proved embarrassing to Democrats.

The committee was authorized in this year 1950 to do its job. Every man who voted for the inquiry knew full well this was an election year. That the investigation was nevertheless approved certainly suggests that most men wanted a fair and complete probe without any punches pulled. They were willing to brave the consequences politically.

All the more reason to censure the handful who, by blaming Kefauver for conducting an open and honest inquiry, reveal their essential insincerity.

It's too early for even a tentative appraisal of the committee's work. But it evidently has tried to keep the investigation earnest, non-partisan and genuinely searching. On the basis of the record to date, it merits the applause of Democrats and Republicans alike. The boos should be reserved for those who think it should have made itself a servant of one political party.

JUST WAKING UP

Speaking of the wreck-ridden Long Island railroad, an official of the Interstate Commerce Commission's Bureau of Safety made this statement.

"In my experience this is the first railroad I've encountered where the headway is so close and the traffic so dense at certain times that perhaps it requires special treatment with respect to safety devices."

We don't know how long this official has been with ICC, but off-hand his words sound like quite an admission. The Long Island has been in existence a long time. It's been running under pretty much the same heavy traffic conditions for a long time.

The ICC safety bureau has jurisdiction over safety matters on all U. S. lines. What kind of job can it be doing if it is just now becoming unaware of the unique traffic problem faced by this busiest of all commuter railroads?

In the light of this showing, Congress might well take a good look at the ICC's safety operations when it considers new funds for the agency next year.

GET IN ON THIS 'PAPER AIRLIFT'

A New York clergyman, a former Air Force chaplain, has organized a Christmas card 'airlift' to Korea.

Thus far Rev. William J. Chase (St. James Episcopal Church) and his parishioners have sent nearly 8000 cards overseas to wounded men in hospitals and soldiers in the field. Some are for G. I.'s to return to their friends and families at home.

The project was undertaken only after Col. John Linsley, staff chaplain of the Far East Air Forces, assured the sponsors the cards were needed and would be distributed by chaplains.

"Korea is very far away from home, and Christmas cards are a way of letting the boys know they haven't been forgotten."

The Reverend Chase's paper airlift to Korea ought to be matched in every corner of America.

Here And There

The dedication of the Warren county court house December 3, 1877, seventy-three years ago, is recalled in a lengthy story that was printed at the time, a copy of which has just come to our attention. It is too long to print, at one time, and will be presented in installments, the first of which is herewith presented.

Monday was a red letter day in the Shire town of Warren county. There was no bunting on the outer walls, no martial music floating on the air, and yet there was a pride in every man's look and step as if it were a privilege to have been born or live in Warren. The great event of the day was the dedication of the new Court House, for which ground was broken in May, 1876, and the cornerstone was laid on July Fourth of the same year. The new edifice is certainly a model of architectural design, and for adaptation to official uses is quite unsurpassed. The State Board of Charities not long since, in their annual tour through the Commonwealth, paid a visit to the building and pronounced it the most complete and finished it had been their lot to see.

It is located on or near the site of the old Court House, on the corner of High and Market streets, fronting to the south. The style of the structure is of the modern Italian renaissance. The outline of the building is broken by a projection of eight feet; the height is two stories, and over the main part springs the dome, on which rests the lantern containing the clock and bell, surmounted by the heroic figure of Justice, with her scales and sword. The approach to the main entrance is by a flight of stone steps, on either side of which are two lofty lamp pillars. At the main entrance leading to the corridor on the first floor are two archways with stone pillars. The edifice is of pressed brick with stone trimmings, the dimensions being 72 feet wide by 122 feet long. The basement is nine feet in height; the first floor 14 feet, and the second story 24 feet in the clear in the court and audience room, and the entire height from the ground to the top of the statue 120 feet. The cornices, dome and statue are of galvanized iron. The first and second floors are supported by brick arches on iron girders, the halls and corridors are laid with white marble tiles with dark borders. The vestibule is of generous dimensions, and the corridors and staircases are of ample width. On the first floor are located the offices of the Commissioners, Treasurer, Sheriff, Recorder and Prothonotary. The main offices of these officials are 20 feet square, with private offices and fire-proof vaults attached. The court room, on the second floor, is 54 feet wide, 72 feet long and 24 feet high. On this floor are apartments for the judges, attorneys, grand and petit juries, witnesses, the ladies having a separate reception room by themselves. The court room has a seating capacity of 400, the seats rising from the bar to the rear by easy gradations. There are two jury panels on either side of the court room and the judge's throne.

More Slush: It was another weekend of slush with the rain of Saturday and the warm sunshine of Sunday shrinking the accumulation of snow in and around the borough to mere smut-covered heaps. . . . Some person or persons wisely decided there should be no parking at any time on the Hickory street bridge, because of snow piled on each side that greatly narrowed the driving space and made passing difficult and some times almost impossible. . . . Over at the Warren General Hospital they were having their difficulties because of the unusual weather. Doctors, nurses and visitors have had difficulty finding parking space the past few days, mainly because the special facilities provided on the west side of Main avenue between St. Clair street and Crescent Park were not available, and again the ice and snow on the roof caused leaks in a number of places, especially in the office of the men's ward side, and in some of the rooms on the second floor. Nurses and patients seemed to be making the best of the situation and there were no reports of unusually high blood pressure as a result of the leaks. . . . While we're on the subject of weather, it is interesting to note that a new printed booklet, is available for free distribution through the Pennsylvania Department of Commerce, listing all places in the state where organized winter sports and supervised facilities for the enjoyment of skiing, tobogganing, skating, snowshoeing and pastimes will be available during the next two months. . . . Nine hunters were lost in the DuBois area during the big storm six of whom were located before search parties went into the forests. Mud-splashed automobiles, most of them carrying out of state hunters, passed through Warren most of Saturday and Sunday, and some of them had as many as four good-sized bucks tied to the fenders and bumpers. . . . According to motorists driving through town, main highways were practically free of snow and slush Saturday and Sunday, but there were many places in the borough where chains came in handy. . . . A pink mitten, evidently belonging to a young miss or woman, was picked up near the corner of Hickory street and Pennsylvania avenue; it is at the Times-Mirror office in case the owner is interested.

Legion Members At Ludlow Discuss Christmas Plans

Ludlow, Dec. 1.—At the regular meeting of James Ueber Post, American Legion, tentative Christmas plans were made and the Home Talent Show to be presented in the spring was discussed. Vernon Swanson and Mabel Peterson represent the Legion on this latter committee and Mrs. Emil Nelson was appointed chairman of the Auxiliary committee. Erlend Olson and Edmond Nelson rented the Legion Hall this week and are rooming and boarding hunters.

Mrs. R. E. Wenstran was hostess to the Ludlow Study Group at her home with most of the members present. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. Emil Nelson, who reminded members that their books must be purchased and ready to pass in January. The Christmas meeting, under the direction of Mrs. Benjamin Connelly, will be held at the home of Mrs. Enoch Nelson. Ethelyn Connelly, program chairman for the evening, gave a short poem after which she introduced Helen Bowman.

Kane, who gave a very interesting review of the book, "Son of a Hundred Kings," by Costain. Delicious refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

All college students home on vacation had an extended leave due to bad weather conditions. Those at home included Tom and Jim Nelson and David Swanson, State College; Connie Erickson, Indiana; Douglas Erickson, Bloomington; Jiggs Juban and Melvin McCleary, Clarion; Ken Swanson and Martha Begeny, Edinboro; Neal, Paul and Alfred Johnson, Upsala.

Mr. Ray Swanson spent the Thanksgiving holiday with his wife and children in Ludlow, and his mother in Mt. Jewett. He left for Camp Atterbury Saturday.

Cpl. William Beers, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Beers, arrived in Ludlow from Camp Atterbury on Thanksgiving Day and visited at the family home until Saturday when he returned to camp.

Mrs. Homer Holt, Akron, and Mrs. James T. Horton, Kent, O., were Thanksgiving Day guests of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Connelly.

Mr. and Mrs. John George, Kane, also spent Thanksgiving Day at the Connelly home.

Mr. and Mrs. Evert Johnson and Judy, spent the holiday with Mr. and Mrs. Julius Swanson in Meadville.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hollaway and Ella Hollaway left Tuesday for Cleveland and Dayton, where they will spend several days before leaving for New Orleans and Texas en route home to Oakland, Calif. The Hollaways just returned from Europe, where they spent the summer, and arrived at the G. A. Olson home to visit until Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester McArthur were Thanksgiving vacation guests in Townville.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Nelson, Tom and Jim, spent Thanksgiving Day with relatives in Indiana, Pa.

Mr. and Mrs. Gustav Olson and Wayne, G. A. Olson, Tillie Olson, and Marie Edstrom spent the holiday at the home of the Rev. and Mrs. Robert E. Olson in Leechburg.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Gardner and Mrs. Eugene Huber spent Thanksgiving Day in Warren at the Bill Muir home.

Mrs. Margaret Peterson, Erie, left Monday after having spent several days, including Thanksgiving Day, at the Charles E. Carlson home.

Morning Roundup: Clogged sewers, rain and melting snow caused a miniature flood around the corner of Wetmore street and Pennsylvania avenue west Sunday morning, they tell us. . . Dr. Quay McCune has returned from a month's absence from his office during which he combined business with pleasure, by attending school for a couple weeks, later witnessing a few good football games including the Army-Navy classic at Philadelphia Saturday. . . The annual ceremony of hanging of the greens is scheduled to take place this evening at the YWCA and it is safe to predict there will be a large crowd of interested young women on hand.

Death of Walter L. Main, at the age of 88, at Geneva, O., last week, reminds of the many times his famous circus played Warren on its tours during the years following the turn of the century.

Noticed in a column over the weekend that Walter Winchell was quoted as saying "Lowell Thomas Jr. is a terrific money maker with the color films he took on his trip to Tibet with his father, outgrossing every form of entertainment in the nation." . . . For the second time in a week Beatty Play-ground is flooded. . . It was another disappointing week-end for merchants, so far as Christmas business was concerned. . . Invitations have been mailed patrons to attend the first showing of the new 1951 Chevrolet at Dan's Chevrolet showroom, 413 Pennsylvania avenue east, starting at nine a. m., next Saturday. . . Mrs. William E. Rice is directing the annual Christmas pageant which will be presented at Trinity Memorial Episcopal church Sunday, December 17. . . Motorists driving to Jamestown Sunday evening found water over the road north of Frewsburg and road blocks established.

These Folks Once Suffered, Too!

Mary Helen Deomes was rundown and fatigued due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Mrs. Verna Riley, suffered stomach distress due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

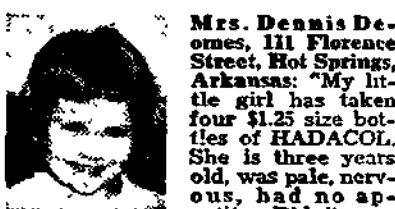

Mr. Grady Thomas suffered from nagging pains due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin.

Why Settle for Symptomatic Relief When HADACOL Has Helped People Like These with Such Deficiencies

Mrs. Dennis Deomes, 111 Florence Street, Hot Springs, Arkansas: "My little girl has taken four $1.25 size bottles of HADACOL. She is three years old, was pale, nervous, had no appetite. Didn't care to play like other children. At night, she would awaken many times frightened and nervous. She would only sit around days and was very easy to cry. I was worried, because she was so pale and had no appetite at all. Then, I had heard of the wonders that HADACOL had done for so many people, both young and old. So I decided to give it to my little girl. I did so, and the third day after she began taking HADACOL, she was more cheerful and began to eat. She awoke happy on the 3rd morning, and has been both eating and sleeping fine ever since, and isn't nervous at all. She is as cheerful as any child can be. Thanks to the makers of HADACOL, we are a HADACOL family. My little girl's name is Mary Helen Deomes."

says she believes I could sleep a week. I can do a full day's work on my farm. Before taking HADACOL, I couldn't work more than an hour or two at a time. I am very thankful for learning about this product."

Mrs. Marjorie Mullins, Jewellville, Virginia: "I feel like HADACOL has helped me in many ways. My health was very poor, till I decided to give it a trial. I got one economy size bottle. It helped so much, I decided I wouldn't be without it. So now I am on my 4th large bottle. Before I took it, I wasn't able to do my housework, and care for my family. Every month, I would have to give up and think I was going to die. But thanks to HADACOL I never feel that way any more. I tell my neighbors about it. I do my housework, my washing and never feel better. I am 42, but don't feel like my age is getting me down now. I am the mother of eight children and have been a widow for 10 years. I worked hard and sent my children to school, and now they are old enough to help me."

Lloyd E. Scheutz, 445 Erie Avenue, Houston, Texas: "Before I took HADACOL, I did not know what it was to sleep for over an hour at night. Since using HADACOL I sleep all night without pains. I have taken three bottles of HADACOL and the relief has been wonderful. I have started on my fourth bottle."

Mrs. C. H. Strack, 651 1/2 West Second Avenue, Pine Bluff, Arkansas: "Before using HADACOL, I was rundown, nervous, and had upset stomach. My friends could not understand the way I was acting. After I took HADACOL, I felt better than I have ever felt. I am not at all nervous and my friends have remarked at the change in me. I am forever grateful for what HADACOL has done for me. I wish to let the whole world know how much I praise HADACOL."

Beattie Hollingsworth, Box 8, Simms, Louisiana: "I am ten years old. I have been sick for a good while. I was nervous, I could not sleep at night. I did not want to study my school lessons. Then, some of my friends told me about HADACOL. Now I have taken only three bottles of HADACOL. I can say that HADACOL has helped me a lot. Now I can sleep, I am not so nervous. I do not hate to get my school lessons. I want to thank my friends for telling me about HADACOL."

SENATOR DUDLEY J. LEBLANC, Whose Tireless Efforts For Relief Of Suffering, Have Brought Humanity Today's Great HADACOL

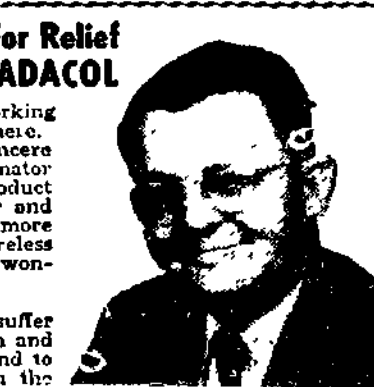

Senator LeBlanc in all of his political activities has always championed the cause of the oppressed, and the poor and underprivileged.

He was the first candidate for Governor to advocate a specific Old Age Pension . . . and today in Louisiana, he is known as the Father of the Old Age Pension. In the course of his long, lone fight he has had his critics, but to those who opposed him he has continually stated, "If you do not believe in Old Age Pensions remember the mandate of the Lord himself—'Honor thy Father and thy Mother that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.'"

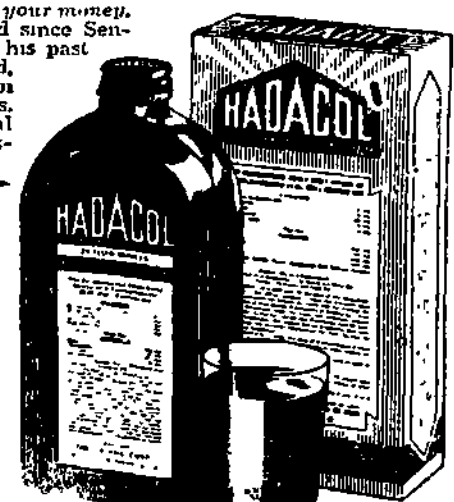

Senator LeBlanc is known as a friend of the veterans. He introduced and successfully passed the law that created the State Service Commissioner whose duty it is to see that every service man receives his just compensation from both State and Federal governments. His activities in public life in behalf of the working man are too numerous to mention here. It was only natural that in his sincere desire to relieve the people, that Senator LeBlanc would seek and find a product that would tend to assist the poor and ailing, that would help them lead a more happy and contented life. His tireless study and effort resulted in today's wonderful HADACOL.

Why Wait? Why experiment, why give up, why suffer from a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Iron and Niacin? Why not make up your mind to start taking HADACOL today with the positive assurance that it will help you if you suffer from such deficiencies or the Senator will gladly send back your money. You have to be satisfied, and since Senator LeBlanc has proven by his past activities that he is your friend, you know you can depend on what he says and what he does. Ask for HADACOL now. Trial size $1.25; large family or hospital size $3.50.

A CHRISTMAS CAROL

After dinner, the Crotchit family drew 'round their hearth, while Bob prepared the Christmas punch.

When the punch was served, Bob proposed a toast: "merry Christmas to us all, my dear, God bless us!" Which all the family re-echoed.

"God bless us every one!" said Tiny Tim, the last of all.

Tiny Tim sat very close to his father's side, upon his little stool. Bob loved the child, and dreaded that he might be taken from him.

"Spirit," said Scrooge, with an interest he had never felt before, "tell me if Tiny Tim will live?"

"I see a vacant seat," replied the Spirit of Christmas Present, "in the poor chimney corner, and a crutch without an owner, carefully preserved. If these shadows remain unaltered by the future, the child will die."

Benjamin Huckabones Have Anniversary Event

A large number of relatives and friends gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Huckabone at Starbuck from seven until ten o'clock Saturday evening for an open house which celebrated their silver wedding anniversary. Guests from Warren, Starbuck and Russell remembered them with many nice gifts, including appropriate silver dollars.

The buffet table was attractively done in crystal and silver and centered with a three-tiered white anniversary cake, decorated with pale pink rosebuds and white doves and topped with numerals in silver.

Mrs. Carrie Dalrymple served the cake and Mrs. Clarence Loney poured, with Mrs. Pearl Huckabone in charge of the guest book. Aides were Mrs. Gail Geer, substituting for the couple's daughter, Mrs. Clair Wood, of Salisbury, who was unable to be present, and Mrs. Guy Schuler.

Selfishness Is at the Bottom Of Most Matrimonial Troubles

ONE of my readers who says he is "82 going on to 100" offers a blunt and down-to-earth comment on marriage. "There is but one cause for an unhappy marriage," he claims, "and that is selfishness on the part of the wife or the husband or both."

He's right, isn't he? Boil down any marriage problem and what you have left is selfishness on somebody's part.

What is back of the husband's complaint that his wife never stays home long enough to see that the house is well run, the children well cared for, etc? Selfishness on the part of the wife, who would rather play bridge or kill time in some other way than stay at home and work to make her family comfortable and secure.

What is back of the wife's complaint that her husband always has an excuse to keep him from doing anything she really wants to do—yet always finds the time and energy to do anything that interests him? It's selfishness, of course. He's willing to be agreeable and companionable, only if he can do what he wants to do when he wants to.

A SELFISH WIFE IS USUALLY A NAGGING WIFE

AND what's responsible for the husband's complaint that his wife is extravagant or isn't satisfied with his job, but keeps nagging him to try to get a better one? It's selfishness again. A case of the wife's wanting things so badly she doesn't care how difficult she makes life for her husband if she can just get the material things she wants.

Then there's the wife who has had her marriage ruined by a husband's unfaithfulness. Isn't it selfishness that gives a man the idea that he can have marriage, a home and family and yet not be burdened by any feeling of responsibility for his wife's happiness, or for being true to his marriage vows?

I agree wholeheartedly with my 82-year-old reader. Look long enough at any unhappy marriage and you'll find selfishness is causing the trouble.

Sheffield Starts Work On Erecting Of Holiday Displays

Sheffield, Dec. 4—Work was started yesterday on the erection in Sheffield of Christmas displays and decorations with the community project to be completed this week it is hoped.

Plans for the decorations were made Friday evening at a meeting of interested businessmen and representatives of 17 organizations in town who all expressed a desire to financially support the project sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce. Robert Baynes is in charge of the financial drive for the project.

Plans include erection of the Santa Claus and his reindeers display on the west side of South Main street downtown next to the Sheffield Observer building and decoration of several trees at the Memorial playgrounds and near the railroad station.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First Methodist church will meet at 1 p. m. tomorrow at the church. The organization will have a tureen luncheon followed by a meeting and program with Mrs. Grant Mottern in charge of the program. Mrs. Archie S. Brown will lead the devotionals.

Hostesses will be Mrs. W. H. Rawson, Mrs. F. O. Reed and Mrs. Grant Mottern. Members will have a 50-cent gift exchange. Members of the Loyalty Bible class will have a dinner and Christmas party at 6:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Bethany Lutheran church. The kitchen committee will prepare the dinner and is composed of Mrs. Frank Byrne, Mrs. Carl Benson, Mrs. J. Harvey Hanson, Mrs. George Stenstrom and Mrs. John Huber. Members are to bring 50 cents to help with Christmas at the Lutheran children's home in Jamestown, N. Y., and also a 25-cent gift for exchange among themselves at the class meeting.

The Sheffield township road crews were busy Saturday afternoon and evening trying to clear much of the slushy snow and ice from the business loop and other mainly traveled roads in the town. That time was chosen as the weather then had been warm enough to melt much of the snow and ice and thus facilitate its easy removal.

The state highway department was busy in Sheffield on Sunday uncovering the sewer manhole covers so that much of the water accumulating in the streets from melted snow could run off and not flood the area.

The township supervisors request the cooperation of motorists' parking on streets where there is still much snow at the side. Do not park across the street from another car if it means another car cannot pass through the street. Also park so that two automobiles may pass one another with ample room.

There are 7195 daily newspapers in the world, with 1886 in the United States, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

FRATERNITY MEETING

Members of the Phalanx Fraternity will hold their regular weekly meeting at seven o'clock this evening in the YMCA. Deane Swanson, general chairman of the Twirl Dance scheduled for this Saturday evening, will make a report on the progress of his committee. Final arrangements for the affair should be completed. A report will also be made by Jack Updegraff, basketball manager, concerning the time of tryouts for the team.

YOUNGVILLE CLUB

Members of the Youngville Pre-school Mothers Club will be entertained at 8 p. m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Blaine Stockton, 413 North Main street, with Rev. W. A. Chamberlain, Jr., as the speaker. All mothers of kindergarten children, whether or not they are members of the club, are cordially invited.

FORTY AND EIGHT

Warren County Vulture 941, Forty and Eight, will hold its December meeting Wednesday evening at the Chief Cornplanter American Legion Home. Dinner will be served at 6:30 p. m. with a short business session later in the evening.

VOLUNTEERS TO MEET

Citizens Hook & Ladder Company will hold the annual dinner and meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sullivan, 911 Fourth avenue, Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock. A Swiss steak dinner prepared by The South Side Market will be served.

SPECIAL COURT

A special session of court was held this morning when one defendant was taken to Warren General Hospital. Wilbur Scott, of Russell, who was to have his case heard, was admitted at the hospital on Saturday. He was arrested by city police on a charge of drunken driving. A non-support case is also slated for hearing this morning.

MARRIAGE LICENSES

An application for marriage license was made Saturday at the office of Recorder Don Schuler by Roy Edward Neal, of Sheffield, and Lulu Gladys Hughes, of Warren. A license was issued Saturday to Clyde Richard Bournique and Bertha Marie Bush, both of Jamestown, N. Y., who were married at once by Deputy Recorder Eleanor F. Smith.

EMERGENCIES TREATED

Two fracture cases were treated at the emergency ward of Warren General Hospital yesterday, one being admitted and the other discharged following treatment. Carl Rowley, 67, of Russell RD 2, was treated for a horse bite on the left elbow. He was discharged following suturing and application of a cast to the fractured elbow. James Playford, 70, of Sheffield, was admitted following treatment for a fracture of the right ankle, sustained when he fell from a ladder at home.

OPERATORS' LICENSES

Sgt. James R. Vaughn, of the state police, said this morning that all applications for 1951 operator's licenses had been mailed, and that the reason for early mailing was so that the applications would not be confused with holiday mail. He also pointed out that 1951 operator's licenses were not valid until on and after January 15, 1951, and that the 1950 license should not be destroyed until after that time. Anyone who has not received his application by this time should communicate with the Department of Revenue, or communicate with local state police for advice.

QUILT WEEK END

City police put in a relatively quiet week end. No accidents were reported at headquarters. Police received many complaints about unshoveled sidewalks, and cars parked illegally. However, week end weather took care of the sidewalks, and owners of the cars were told to move them. Officers found a new jack at an east side service station Saturday night which they took into safekeeping. The only other call involved a family battle on the east side about 2:30 a. m. today.

MENU SUGGESTIONS

BY GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

AT the foot of the Berkshires in a 150 year old inn, there's the smoothest bowl of egg nog in this Christmas world.

Russell and Rosamond Chapin own the New Boston Inn. These two genial people regard serving good food to all who stop by as their duty to mankind. New Boston, Massachusetts, is at the junction of U. S. routes 8 and 57 and the inn waits hospitably on a little hill overlooking the town.

Mrs. Chapin, a noted dramatic soprano, favors the European custom of serving egg nog on Christmas Eve. "In reverent remembrance of the holy event of the first Christmas, carols are sung," she said, "then presents are opened with father playing Santa Claus. Suddenly everyone gets hungry and at that moment the Christmas egg nog appears with little cookies and thinly sliced fruit cake."

Let's follow the New Boston Inn recipe just as Mrs. Chapin gave it to me.

"For an egg nog sufficient to serve ten people generously proceed as follows. Plan to make it in the morning because it must have time to chill thoroughly into a large earthenware bowl put the yolks of a dozen grade A fresh eggs. Set the whites temporarily to one side in a smaller bowl."

"To the yolks add slowly, but by bit, while beating with a rotary beater, one cup of sifted granulated sugar and one level teaspoon of salt. When the yolks, sugar and salt are well blended discard the rotary beater in favor of a French Whip (wire whisk) and add slowly, while whisking, one pint of heavy cream and two and one half quarts of whole rich milk.

"Now comes the part where you must follow your own inclinations. You may flavor your egg nog with good vanilla extract alone or you can do as we do and add slowly while whisking, one pint of good rye, one half pint of light rum and one half pint of brandy. Don't forget that a strong dash of good vanilla, too, seems to blend all the other flavors especially well.

"Lastly whip your egg whites into a firm meringue with one cup of sifted granulated sugar and a dash of salt. Fold this into the egg nog and store the whole concoction away in the refrigerator in a covered bowl so none of the aroma can escape.

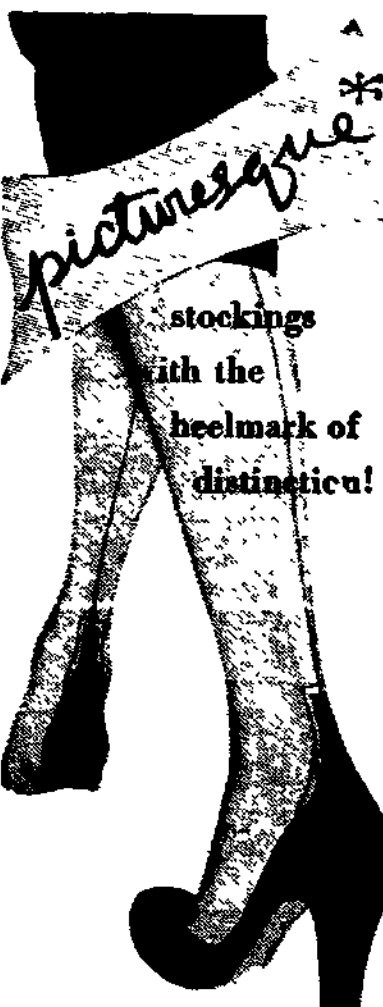

"Just before serving, give it one final whisk and pour it into a well chilled china or silver punch bowl. Add a top dusting of nutmeg and ladle it out to your delighted guests into punch glasses with handles."

ALLEGED BIGAMIST IS AIDED BY FIRST WIFE

Johnstown, Dec. 4—(P)—Robert Hooper, unemployed salesman jailed on a bigamy charge, is free today under $3,000 bond—posted by his first wife.

Police arrested Hooper in a New Castle hotel room, where he was spending his honeymoon with the former Gladys Burkhardt, 25, of New Castle.

Mrs. Mary Hooper, his first wife, and the mother of his six year-old son, read about her husband's second marriage in a newspaper and had him arrested.

Both wives visited Hooper in jail. But it was the first Mrs. Hooper who struggled to raise the bail set by Alderman James Malloy.

After Hooper was released, the alderman said, he left the office with his first wife.

ALTOONA IS SLOWLY RETURNING TO NORMAL

Altoona, Dec. 4—(P)—All downtown buildings in Altoona have electricity today for the first time in nine days.

Officials of the Pennsylvania Electric Company said enough lines have been restored to furnish complete power to the downtown area. A snow and sleet storm knocked out power here a week ago Saturday.

Many residential customers still had to go without electricity, however, but a Penelec spokesman said current is returning to scores of homes every day.

ers of the legislature and will meet on Wednesday with officials of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs on conservation measures. He is pledged to continue Governor James H. Duff's conservation program, including cleanup of the state's streams.

The governor-elect was reported under pressure from Pennsylvania banking and credit leaders to retain State Secretary of Banking D. Emmert Braumbaugh.

COUNCIL TO MEET

The December meeting of Warren Borough Council will be held tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the council chambers of the Municipal building. An ordinance, revising the zoning law to permit construction of a hotel in the Pennsylvania Avenue, West block between Hazel and Laurel streets, will be considered on third and final reading. Any citizen wishing to speak for or against the ordinance will be given an opportunity to voice his opinions.

County Coordinator Announces Bible Meeting

giving the court more power in handling civil defense.

Judge Wade pointed out that in setting up civilian defense in the state and in this county, the federal Hoppley report has been used as a basis of instruction. The Hoppley report, issued by United States authorities, was made after extensive study of all the angles and problems of civil defense using the already proven English system as much as possible. It is vital to our security that the local plan must be integrated with the commonwealth as a whole and the rest of the country.

The county coordinator stated that local officials are taking a serious view of the civil defense problem in light of the critical world condition which might result in another world war. And he added that another world war would very probably bring actual air attacks to this country and to Pennsylvania. He said that Mr. Clinger and the executive defense council have been busy for several months laying the groundwork for the local defense organization.

At Friday's meeting Judge Wade and Mr. Clinger will report on the progress of local plans. Division chiefs will also be present to report on their work which is providing a closely knit county wide plan of civilian defense. Mr. Clinger, deputy coordinator, will give a report on a recent conference in Harrisburg between officials of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Michigan, and New York State.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

CONSERVATIVE PLAY DOESN'T ALWAYS PAY

BY OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service...
Everybody knows some bridge player who is very proud of being conservative. "When I bid 'em, I've got 'em," he will say smugly.

This is very fine when our hero has the tickets. But his caution costs him a lot on certain hands, and the peculiar thing is that he will never know what he has missed. The hand shown today is a typical example.

There was nothing much to the play at five clubs. The defenders could take their spade trick and the ace of diamonds, but nothing else. North and South scored 700 points for the rubber and 100 points for the trick score at five clubs. Thereupon East dismissed the hand from his mind and went on to bigger and better things.

Now let's see what might have happened if East had been less conservative. After all, East eventually bid three spades—why couldn't he bid three spades right over North's double? The effect of such a bid might well have been devastating.

tendency would be to play safe by passing, especially since he was vulnerable against non-vulnerable opponents.

Now suppose that three spades happened to be passed by South and West. What would North do?
He would wonder whether or not he was being robbed, but he wouldn't dare investigate any further. If his partner had a poor hand, they could neither beat three spades nor make any contract of their own. So North also would play safe by passing.

West would wind up playing the hand at three spades—which he would make. It's a lot better, of course, to make a part score of your own than to let the opponents take the rubber.

As a matter of fact, even if North or South closed his eyes and plunged in with a bid over three spades, West might still sacrifice at five spades instead of giving up the rubber. He would know that East had good spades but nothing else for the immediate jump to three spades.

The sacrifice would cost only 300 points, far less than the value of the rubber. East's actual bidding suggested that he had some defensive values, so that West (who had two aces) was justified in hoping to defeat five clubs.

Membership In Co. Motor Club Gift Suggestion

Lacking from the joyful atmosphere as we approach the Yuletide season this year will be the usual feeling of peace and contentment due to the present troubled conditions in the world and the fact that so many of us will have loved ones in strange lands instead of beside us to share

In the enjoyment of this traditionally happy season. The holiday season will have little of its usual spirit; we will observe Christmas soberly and with prayers that soon all peoples of the world may once again regain a spirit of thoughtfulness, generosity, friendliness and good will.

In these troubled times, your AAA automobile club stands by ready to serve you and other members of the American Automobile Association, reminds A. A. Albaugh, president of the Warren County Motor Club. But regardless of the soberness with which we approach this Christmas, the exchange of gifts among friends and families will continue to be part of the Yuletide tradition.

"Possibly the very best and most valuable gift you could give those car owners among your friends, acquaintances and families is a membership in your AAA motor club," says Mr. Albaugh. "Giving 365 days of service, protection and benefits, it is truly the ideal Christmas gift."

"This year give the Perfect Christmas Gift, the Gift that Keeps on Giving—a membership in your automobile club."

"We are dedicating our holiday celebration this year to a goal that will bring 'peace on earth, good will to men.' It is with that thought that we say—Happy Yuletide; Happy Motoring!"

Dog vs. Cat

To the Editor:

According to an Associated Press story from Oakland, Calif., in the Oct. 15, 1950, issue of the Detroit Free Press, "a cat sued a dog for $522.50 damages in municipal court here."

"Owner of the dog, Robert Capwell," the story says, "was asked to pay that amount in damages because his hound allegedly 'with wild and malicious intent to do bodily harm' attacked and injured the cat."

Well, maybe the cat has a case. Not all dogs are friendly toward cats. There is one fellow that most of us hate—that is the tiger of the liquor traffic.

If you humans don't get busy and beat us to it, maybe some of us dogs will hail the liquor traffic tiger into court. If the judge would let us make a list of all the kickings and cuffings and other kinds of abuse we have taken because of that tiger, I think we would have a pretty good case. Don't you?

WHO SPONSORS SPORTS ON TV?

Brewers were the No. 1 TV sports sponsors this summer, according to Wallace A. Ross, publisher of regular compilations on TV programming. There were approximately 49 beer companies carrying sports events on 59 video stations during the warm weather months, he reported.

Mr. Ross revealed that 80 advertisers, ranging from dog food to cigarettes, were backing televised sports on 98 stations. Equally variegated were the types of events covered. Among them: baseball, boxing, wrestling, horse racing, golf, tennis, roller derby.

In Our Town

TB: A Family Tragedy...

LAST SPRING 21-year-old Angela Lempha began losing weight. She had night sweats, afternoon fever and was "lined all the time." She thought nothing of her complaints, however, and continued reporting for work each day in a pharmaceutical house. On May 8, in company with all the other employees, she had a routine chest X-ray; she was not concerned, because two years ago she had been X-rayed and found negative of TB symptoms.

But this time the X-ray showed that Angela was really sick. She had moderately advanced active TB. The plant immediately referred her to the Philadelphia TB & Health Association.

Up to this point Angela was like thousands of Philadelphians who've been given routine chest exams—never thinking anything was wrong—only to discover they have TB. But what happened from then on illustrates how tuberculosis—worst killer of all communicable diseases and right now in an epidemic stage—will never be brought under control until its victims, as well as public officials, join in attacking the problem...

AFTER THE DIAGNOSIS WAS CONFIRMED, a public health nurse was sent to Angela's home to suggest she report to the City's free TB clinic at Jewish Hospital. Angela's mother, Nellie, first told the nurse that she was unaware of any illness in the home. Later, however, she said that Angela could not accept the services of the TB clinic. Warned about TB for herself, she scoffed.

The nurse left a sputum bottle for Angela to use and return to the city lab. On June 27 the bottle was returned; who had used it was not indicated but the tests showed a negative sputum.

When Angela was shown to be an active TB carrier, she was given a leave of absence—for the protection of other employees.

EARLY THIS FALL, the Lempha neighbors called the city health department and asked for an inspector to check the home as a possible public health menace.

Housing and Sanitation inspectors who went to the house reported that Angela, who let them in, "looked weak and emaciated." They said she told them she was suffering from a "pulmonary disease" and that her mother was "sick."

After the inspectors reported that the home was clean and tidy, Dr. M. J. Sokoloff, chief of the city's TB division, felt there was nothing he could do legally because the family was on its own property.

ON OCTOBER 17 A PUBLIC HEALTH NURSE visited the Lempha home following new complaints from neighbors. An elderly woman who described herself as a nurse said Angela's mother had died within the week and was being buried that day. Angela, she said, was ill in bed, but when the nurse pressed for details the woman said all questions should be referred to Angela's sister, Lillian, who lived in the house and worked in the same pharmaceutical plant.

Later, the nurse asked Lillian to co-operate in the TB control plan. Lillian replied that the plant had made arrangements for her to be examined once a month at the TB association's office. Angela, Lillian said, could not be examined: "She's asleep now," Lillian said. "She's all right."

SHORTLY THEREAFTER neighbors reported that following the death of her mother, Lillian had given the bed clothing to a welfare agency. Fearful of TB, a nurse immediately called the agency—and had all the blankets burned...

THE FEAR WAS CORRECT: A coroner's inquest reported that Mrs. Lempha had died of TB. And Lillian herself got news: Her latest chest X-ray showed she, too, had developed the disease...

DR. SOKOLOFF is convinced that the mother was the original source of infection. Had she been diagnosed and treated, he thinks that both Lillian and Angela might have been spared.

And so, he adds, might all of the innocent victims who were exposed to the two sisters...

Today's Business Mirror

New York.—(P)—Behind the cold statistics of business there are always warm, breathing individuals—with their own very personal problems.

Statistics tell us that the top executives in business are a much older lot, on average, than before the war. Statistics tell us there is a shortage of younger men coming up in industry to take these top places.

But there's no shortage of young men who think they have the ability—if they could get into one of those companies who have executive training programs for promising employees already in their hire.

The problem: How to get the opportunity and the candidate together.

"Apparently promotion from within the ranks and recruiting of college graduates have not supported the demand of industry," writes a New York lawyer who would like to train for an executive-administrative job.

The missing link is the lack of a practical method whereby the needs of industry and talents such as mine are brought together. Industry's traditional answer to this: "Join our company at a low-level job and if you're worthwhile, your talents will be rewarded."

But many of the impatient younger generation shy away from the years of training at low pay, in days when the cost of living is pinching white collar workers so badly.

"The real issue," writes a man who is both a graduate engineer and a lawyer, "seems to be that industry cannot hire enough young executives or keep them at the low salary level during the necessary training period. In other words, industry finds that it must carry a high executive payroll to get what it wants, whereas, they would much prefer to get the same from younger men at a greatly reduced payroll."

Companies with executive training programs appeal most to the ambitious younger men. A veteran, 26, with both Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Law degrees, is eager to work for a company with such a training program. So is a junior executive engineer at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and an auditor on a Navy project in the Aleutians writes: "Here at Adak, one loses touch with many events and circumstances which enable young, aggressive men to obtain the opportunity to prove their mettle." He's coming out of the Aleutians in June looking for a company that trains men for executive posts.

Another youngster already here, a veteran, 23, who already has a Bachelor's degree in Economics and a Master's in Marketing, says: "I have been trying for the past two months to place myself in an executive training position. And my failure has not been due to any process of rejection, but rather because of my inability to make contact with firms at this time. How can I get in touch with firms that have junior executive programs and are on the lookout for new talent?"

Some suggest that companies in need of junior executives—due to the shortage in these ranks caused by the depression and the war—might stress their executive training programs in the ads they place in trade journals for employees in the lower-level positions.

"After two years of engineering, military service, and three years of sales experience," writes another veteran, "I reached the conclusion that the only way for me to achieve my personal goal of becoming an executive was to complete my formal education." He's getting his Master's in Business Administration in March and will seek to enter an executive development program in industry.

The war and the rearmament program have brought the whole problem to the demand for men with executive ability to the fore. An older man in a small industrial city in the midwest puts it this way:

"I am sure that there are others, like me, who are only beginning to realize the vast need for men with knowledge and training."
